'DOES HER DUTY'

Berrien Records Have New Home--Anyway

By JERRY KRIEGER
County-Farm Editor

Tons of the big volumes that hold more than a century of property transaction records in Berrien county were moved to the new courthouse Wednesday, despite instructions to the contrary from the board of supervisors' finance committee.

Register of Deeds Beatrice Tiefenbach Chapman revealed late yesterday she was having the movers, who are handling the big move from the old to the new courthouse, transfer most of the big volumes and the special roller shelves that store them.

Only a day earlier she had announced neither these original records nor microfilm copies would be available to the public for some weeks. The big volumes were to be left in the old courthouse, she explained then, and she could not keep a clerk there to make the records available. Microfilm copies of the real estate records that go as far back as 1831 are not ready for use, she said.

GETS ADVICE

Taking matters into her own hands, after consulting several attorneys, she had the bigger share of the volumes and the roller shelves on which they rest moved to her new quarters.

She said she had been given instructions by the finance committee that the volumes were to be left in the old office.

"I don't want to disobey the board of supervisors," she declared Wednesday afternoon, "but my duty to the people is more important."

"I am legally responsible for all these invaluable records, not the board of supervisors. And I must make these records available to the people who want to see them."

She said the law demands that these records not be left unattended except when locked, adding that she does not have enough personnel to leave one person in the old office just to open the records to the public.

By moving them to the new office, she said the public can be served without an interruption of some weeks.

IMMENSE JOB

Most of the old real estate transaction records must be copied on microfilm and the job will take possibly two years or more, she said.

Gray Heads Board Of Warwick

Glenn Evans
Elected Director

Elisha Gray II, Whirlpool Corp. board chairman, was elected to the same spot in Warwick Electronics, Inc., Wednesday.

Also put on the Warwick board of directors was Glenn A. Evans, Whirlpool's manufacturing vice president.

The two local men replace Crowdsy Baker, president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., and George M. Metcalf, a Sears vice president.

The change reflects a plan announced Aug. 10 whereby Whirlpool will acquire a controlling interest in Warwick from Sears. The initial investment at the time was pegged at a $28 million cash outlay by Whirlpool.

Warwick, headquartered at Niles, Ill., is a major supplier of television sets, radios, tape recorders and stereos sold under private labels by Sears. Until last month's stock transfer, the retail chain owned about 90 per cent of the Illinois company.

As part of the transaction, Whirlpool dropped the RCA part of its own Whirlpool-RCA brand line.

more, she said, and she intends to keep the big volumes in the new office until this job is done. All such records have been microfilmed since 1957, but marginal notations that are entered by hand on the records after they are filed have not come through on the film. As long as the original records are close for reference, this is no problem. Now, however, the filming will have to be done over, using a new process that will pick up the marginal notations.

As soon as the records are all microfilmed, Mrs. Chapman said, then she will be happy to move the big volumes of original records back to the old courthouse, or wherever the county board wants them stored.

The law provides the originals may never be destroyed, however.

Pontiac Picketed By UAW

Protest 'Number Of Grievances'

PONTIAC (AP)—United Auto Workers pickets appeared at the General Motors Fisher Body plant in Pontiac today, threatening production of 1967 models at GM's Pontiac Motors Division.

Don Johnson, president of UAW Local 596, said the pickets were protesting over a number of unsettled grievances. He said he hoped to discuss the matter with management today.

Some 10,000 workers are employed by Fisher Body of Pontiac, and a continuation of the walkout could result in a shut-down of the Pontiac plant itself.

NO BACKLOG

A GM spokesman said there normally was only a four-to-five-hour supply of bodies on hand at the plant.

"There's no backlog to speak of because there is no place to store them," he said.

U.S. CASUALTIES HIT NEW RECORD

Backlash Wins In Georgia

Big Upset For Moderate Racial View

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Lester G. Maddox, an ardent segregationist running a shoeing campaign, has captured the Democratic nomination for governor — upsetting a moderate candidate and Georgia's middle-road racial course.

Maddox, a furniture merchant who quit the cafeteria business rather than serve Negroes, decisively defeated Ellis G. Arnall, a former governor, in Wednesday's primary runoff. Arnall had led a six-man race two weeks ago.

"God and the people are my campaign managers," exulted Maddox, 50, after pulling off a major upset without big-money backers or the support of high-ranking politicians.

With 1,742 of 1,908 precincts reported: Maddox 419,557, Arnall 356,078.

A fiery opponent of the federal government, President Lyndon B. Johnson, liberalism, socialism and communism, Maddox says he shares the racial views of Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace. But Maddox said very little about racial issues in his campaign.

Arnall, 59, who scored a major upset two decades ago to win the governorship over the popular Eugene Talmadge, had charged in the runoff fight that Maddox was radical and extremist, a man whose symbols were ax handles and pistols.

GOP SUPPORT?

Maddox, in resisting integration in 1964 and 1965, once waved a pistol to chase Negroes from his place and provided ax handles for white patrons. When ordered by a court to serve Negroes, Maddox quit the cafeteria business.

Arnall met Maddox to concede personally. Some followers of Arnall said Republicans voted for Maddox as the easier opponent for their nominee in November.

Taking on Maddox in the first Georgia two-party contest for governor since Reconstruction will be Rep. Howard H. Callaway, the state's lone Republican congressman, a conservative ex-Democrat who helped carry the state for Barry Goldwater in 1964.

The voting patterns were jumbled strangely — adding at least some weight to the view that Republicans voted for Maddox. In the Goldwater strongholds of Macon, Augusta and Columbus, Arnall managed bare majorities after leading the field two weeks ago in those same cities.

INCUMBENT LOSES

In the lieutenant governor's race, the voters nominated moderate George T. Smith, speaker of the Georgia House, over conservative Peter Zack Geer, the incumbent.

Geer told newsmen Wednesday night: "I want to tell you one more time — I'm still the lieutenant governor of the white folks. I'm glad Lester Maddox beat Ellis Arnall."

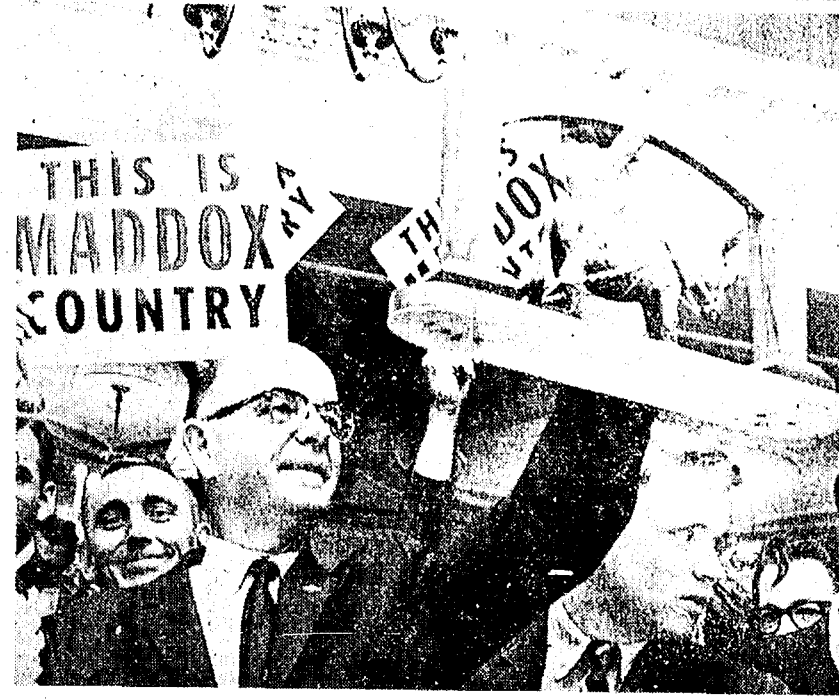

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who lives in Atlanta, said the voting "revealed that Georgia is desperately competing with Mississippi for the bottom."

"I must confess that Mr. Maddox's victory causes me to be ashamed to be a Georgian. This portends that the days ahead in race relations will be confusingly dreary and the nights will be darker than a thousand midnights."

Maddox takes charge of the almost completely disorganized Democratic party which under Gov. Carl E. Sanders has steered a moderate racial course. Maddox will control the state delegation to the Demo-

THREE OTHERS HURT New Buffalo Crash Kills Woman, 68

NEW BUFFALO—Mrs. Mary Lampert, 68, of Stroman road, New Buffalo, was killed yesterday afternoon when the car she was riding in was struck broadside by a dump truck southwest of New Buffalo.

Mrs. Lampert died of head injuries, according to New Buffalo state police.

Her death brings to 41 the number of traffic fatalities in Berrien county so far this year. Hospitalized from the crash was the driver of the car, Brent Sherman, 20, of Wilson road, New Buffalo. Mrs. Lampert's grandson.

He is listed in fair condition in St. Joseph's hospital in South Bend with head and chest injuries. For part of the night he was listed in critical condition, troopers said.

Also injured in the crash were Mrs. Ernest (Shirley) Sherman, mother of Brent and daughter of Mrs. Lampert, and Del Sherman, 18 months, Mrs. Sherman's son.

They were treated at Memorial hospital.

Highest Toll Of Any Week

Yanks Lose More Than South Viets

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. forces suffered more casualties in South Viet Nam last week than in any week of the war, the U. S. command announced today. The high toll apparently resulted from the hard fighting south of the demilitarized zone, where American Marines are battling North Vietnamese regulars.

American casualties during the week total 970, the U. S. command said, including 142 men killed, 825 reported missing in action or captured.

The previous highest number of American casualties was during the week ending last May 21, when 146 U. S. troops were killed and 820 wounded, a total of 966.

American casualties last week were nearly three times as high as South Vietnamese losses. South Vietnamese dead numbered 98, the wounded 280, the Vietnamese command said.

DEATH RATE

The highest American death rate in one week came last November when 240 were killed, most of them in the battle of the Ia Drang Valley. In that week, 470 others were wounded.

Enemy losses rose also. Viet Cong and North Vietnamese dead last week totaled 1,165, the commands said. There were 722 the previous week.

Many of the American and enemy casualties apparently were suffered in Operation Prairie, the U. S. Marine operation just south of the demilitarized zone. In hard fighting there Wednesday a company of Marines seized a heavily fortified hill, killing 50 North Vietnamese, and held their ground against three Red counterattacks and heavy mortar fire through much of the night.

The casualty report for last week was the fourth this year in which American casualties exceeded South Vietnamese losses. The U. S. command said more Americans were wounded than in any previous week of the

The UN Needs Amy Vanderbilt

In recent years Amy Vanderbilt has taken up the sceptre once wielded by Emily Post as the arbiter of what's proper.

If a person is in doubt as to what to wear for a particular occasion, how to set a dinner table, arrange a wedding or wrangle through innumerable other social complexities, Miss Vanderbilt can supply an authoritative answer.

The latest ruckus in the UN's General Assembly indicates that possible not U Thant is needed to succeed himself as Secretary General so much as is Miss Vanderbilt. She may not be an international statesman nor a portentous reporter of UN doings as is Pauline Frederick, the actress turned TV commentator, but she knows good manners, if nothing.

This is a commodity that's been in short supply in what is supposed to be a world organization to foster peace and better understanding amongst its brawling constituents.

Khrushchev, when he was the Russian premier, called Ike a liar and applauded one of Adlai Stevenson's speeches by pounding his shoe on the table.

Earlier this week all but three of the African nation delegates walked out while the South African delegate was giving an apologist speech for his country's apartheid policy in Southwest Africa, a territory mandated to it after World War I by the defunct League of Nations.

The South African position is on shaky ground and it runs counter to the thinking of many countries outside the African bloc. Debate, though, is one thing. The pointed leave taking by some of the audience is something else.

The spokesman, had he chosen, could have listed some practices in other lands which scarcely come up to UN principles.

Many of the Arab nations, for example, still condone slavery within their borders.

In most of the African countries, to be on the wrong side of the political fence can mean the physical loss of one's head.

Within the Communist bloc, freedom of speech and action is reserved for the government leaders and occasionally for the gifted few individuals in the performing arts. Everyone else toes the line and keeps his mouth shut — or else.

The record is blank on those procedures being brought up for discussion.

Two wrongs do not make a right and the failure of international do-goodism to make official note of those shortcomings in civil rights is no reason the African brotherhood should not lobby for international integration.

However, since the UN presumably operates on a democratic framework which includes freedom of debate, at least the spokesman for an unpopular cause deserves a courteous audience.

Amy might be the answer here.

Melting Mountain

Five years ago, the Canadian government had 158 million pounds of surplus butter and 37 million pounds of butter oil made from processing 44 million pounds of butter. The high-priced spread filled 90 warehouses.

The stock is decreasing quite rapidly, and by far the biggest factor is increasing consumption by Canadians.

In 1957, every man, woman and child ate an average 19.38 pounds of butter. Four years later, this had dropped to 15.5 pounds per year and a surplus was piling up.

Now there has been a turnabout. Consumption of butter is increasing sharply — the average is already over 18 pounds per head per year. And there are nearly two million more Canadians now than there were in 1957.

There must be a tie-in between prosperity and butter consumption. When people are flush with cash they are more inclined to upgrade the cuisine, or to put it another way, to live high on the hog.

Whatever the reason, if butter stocks continue to dwindle, Canada may have to import butter if only to hold the price within limits that can be reached by ordinary wage earners.

Young As They Feel

Rocky Marciano's decision to take up boxing again at the age of 43 is thrilling news. It will give all middle-aged men with paunches good reason to strut and their wives second thoughts regarding lawn mowers, shovels and hammers.

Rocky's chances of making a comeback may be slim, nevertheless. Some middle-aged men have made comebacks and a few have stayed on until their mid-forties. But there were never many of them.

However, the exceptions are notable ones. For instance: Gardner Mulloy, at 50, still beating men half his age in world-class tennis.

Ben Hogan, 55, emerging from semi-retirement every so often to show young golfers how the game should be played.

Johnny Longden, a first class jockey until age 59 when he reluctantly hung up his tack.

Lou "the Toe" Groza, ace field-goal specialist for the Cleveland Browns, still going strong at 42.

Then, of course, there are the hundreds of aging athletes who have tried to continue and who have failed. Their names are legion.

The moral of all this is that some athletes don't give up when they should, while some who shouldn't give up, do. If Rocky Marciano ever meets a feisty heavyweight of tender years in the ring, he'll probably wish he had stayed home counting the money he earned as undefeated heavyweight champion of the world.

Aiding Indonesia

There can be no doubt that Indonesia's economic plight, resulting from Sukarno's misrule, is severe. Nor, from the U. S. point of view, is there any doubt changes taking place under Indonesia's new leadership are welcome.

Assistance is needed, but the question now confronting the Senate and House foreign relations committees is whether this country should revert to providing wholesale aid to Indonesia on a unilateral basis.

Forerunners in the form of requests for "emergency" loans and deferred-payment shipments have been received. White House pressure for relaxing congressional bans on aid of Indonesia is making itself felt.

The restrictions were applied when Sukarno was publicly slandering the United States and allowing street mobs to wreck U. S. property, including its embassy, information offices and libraries.

In the process, another possible pitfall for excessive U. S. involvement is forming. It is here that the lesson of Viet Nam should be applied while there still is time.

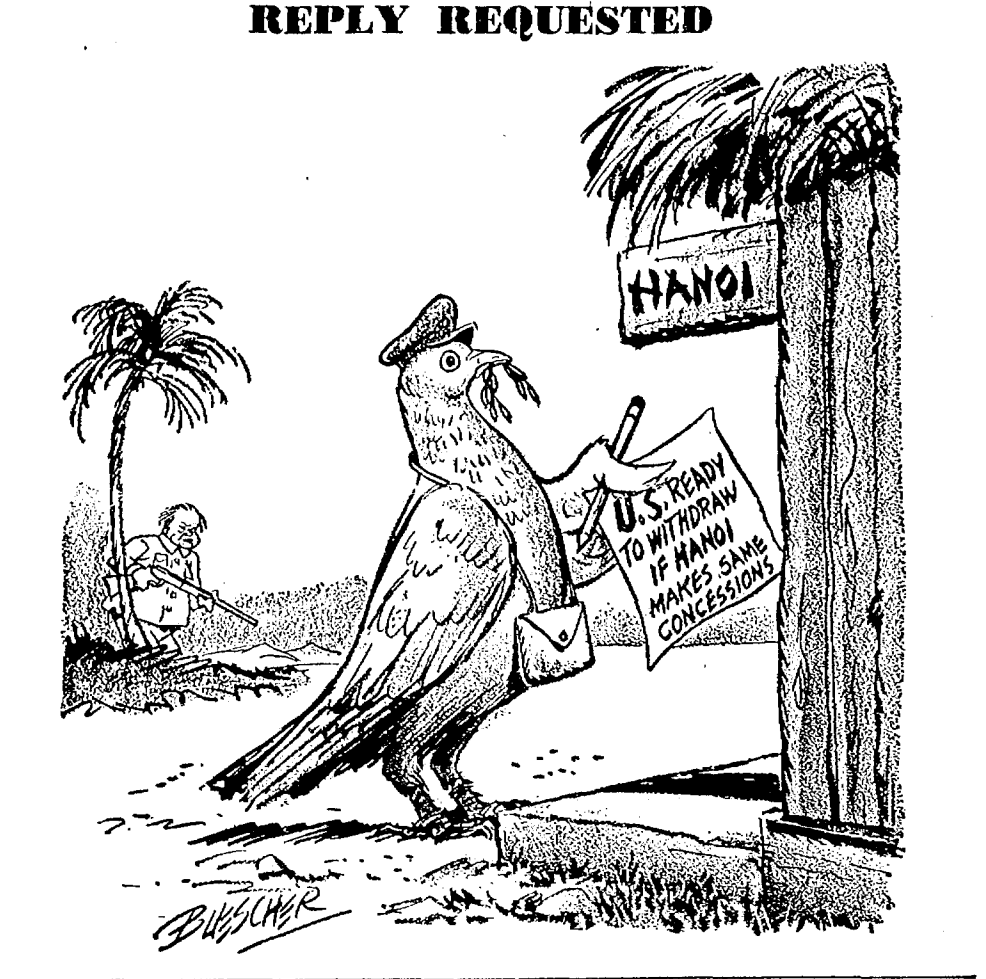

Indonesia's survival outside the orbit of communist domination is vitally important not only to the United States but to all free nations. Assistance therefore should proceed on a cooperative basis, from what international finance calls a consortium.

The international Bank for Reconstruction and Development is prepared to help Indonesia. Other consortiums, both public and private, are available. In joining these, the United States should be able to render assistance without committing itself in ways it may come to regret.

In the missile age the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans and the Polar Ice Cap seem less friendly than they once did.

One might believe that no two people think alike, but a glance at wedding presents argues otherwise.

SCHOOL PROPERTY REZONING DONE

After 15 months of discussion and deferred action, the Buchanan city commission Monday night rezoned the Riverside school property to make way for six four-unit apartment buildings. The Northwest Housing Development Corp. of Buchanan said work will start soon on two of the units.

Before acting on the ordinance amendment required to change the zoning of the property, commissioners voted to abandon the present sewer line serving the 10-lot plot of ground on Fulton street. The line which has become inadequate was installed in 1944 by the federal government when the defense workers were brought to Clark Equipment company from the south. The line was turned over to the city after World War II.

Inside Washington

By HENRY CATHCART

WASHINGTON — If any one thing characterizes this second session of the 89th Congress, it is passive leadership. Some critics bluntly term it weak and ineffective. Certainly, it has not been strong and vigorous.

The problem was pointed up when House Majority Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma recently was hospitalized by a heart attack. The chief burden of working leadership for the rest of the session fell on his assistant, Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana.

The House picture is not brightened by the fact that Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, a veteran of many a battle, is now 74 and tiring.

Across the Capitol, the party in power is led by easy-going Senator Mike Mansfield of Montana. Trapped by Senate rules under which too many decisions can only be reached by unanimous consent, Mansfield has been saved from more frequent stalemate only by the co-operation of GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

There have been days when frustrated senators would have welcomed the strong hand of Lyndon B. Johnson, who ran the Senate with pressure and cajolery which then irritated many members. Mr. Johnson as President even now might be exerting more influence on Congress, but the Viet Nam war and economic problems occupy most of his attention.

But having said that, it must be noted that the real test is not so much how Congress proceeds, but what it accomplishes. And the achievements of the 89th are pretty impressive. That is what counts on election day and in the history books.

speaking of YOUR HEALTH

By Lester L. Coleman, M. D.

My youngest son is 6 1/2. He seems to be in good health, but I am concerned about the dark rings under his eyes. Even his teachers at school have commented that he always looks tired, despite his abundant energy.

Also, he always seems to have a snuffle, without having fever or other symptoms of a cold.

Mrs. B. L. Mississippi

Dear Mrs. L.: Many children have complaints similar to those of your son. The child who has a constant "cold" is more likely to have some allergic reaction in the nose, rather than the usually suspected sinus infection.

Enlarged adenoids can give a child a stuffy feeling in the nose and a typical appearance of the "mouth breather". With this can come the chronic snuffle.

Circles under the eyes are frequently caused by fatigue or some form of eyestrain. And there are some children who have a pigmentation of the skin which emphasizes the dark circles, even when they are in perfect health.

Recently, a new and interesting explanation for dark shadows under children's eyes were made by Dr. Meyer B. Marks of the Jackson Memorial Hospital, in Miami, Florida. Dr. Marks feels that the dark circles are a sign of a chronic nasal allergy which produces swelling of the lining of the nose and poor circulation of the blood below the eyelids.

Circles under the eyes do not suggest a dangerous or serious condition. It is rather simple to find the underlying causes by ruling out the adenoids, eyestrain and allergy.

I went to the doctor for a regular yearly examination and was shocked when I was told that I seemed to have signs of having had a coronary heart attack without knowing it. I have had no symptoms and have worked regularly without interruption during the past year.

Is it possible for such a condition to happen to a man without knowing it?

D. K. Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. K.: It has come to light that experiences like yours may happen far more frequently than is commonly suspected.

Let me explain that coronary artery disease indicates some narrowing of the important blood vessels that bring nourishment to the heart muscle itself.

When these coronary arteries are narrowed by arteriosclerosis, the blood supply and the oxygen supply to the muscle is decreased, and the muscle suffers and develops a weak spot called an "infarction". This is a form of "heart attack".

An internationally famous heart specialist, Dr. Arthur Master and his co-worker, Dr. Arthur J. Geller of the Mt. Sinai Hospital in New York City, believe that thousands of people may have "silent" small heart attacks every year, with no apparent symptoms.

They suggest that these small heart attacks may go unnoticed because some men do not react quickly to pain and therefore do not complain or seek medical attention. In many instances, these attacks are dismissed as stomach upsets or indigestion, and are never even mentioned to their doctors.

Dr. Master and Dr. Geller suggest that every man over 35 years of age should have a complete annual physical examination, just as you have had. They insist that, in order to uncover the "silent" heart attacks, the examination must include electrocardiograms before and after exercise, in order to be absolutely sure that some old quiet heart attack has not been overlooked.

This is an important contribution to save many of the hearts that are still too young to die.

Opening lead jack of clubs. Let's say you have the West hand and are defending against three no-trump. You lead the jack of clubs, which South wins with the ace after dummy and East follow low.

Declarer then plays the three of diamonds, on which you play low, and dummy wins the trick with the queen. South now proceeds to cash his spades and clubs, which brings him to nine tricks, and it then becomes evident that you could have beaten the hand had you gone up with the ace of diamonds at trick two and played the king and another heart.

If you are not inclined to be self-critical, you would quickly dismiss the hand from your mind and go on to the next deal. You might say to yourself that this type of defense is easy enough when you see all four hands, but, since you saw only two hands, you could hardly be held responsible for failing to find the double-dummy defense.

But if you think about the matter seriously, you realize that going up with the ace of diamonds and switching to hearts is by no means a farfetched method of play; in fact it is the right play.

It is clear from the bidding and South's play at trick two that he can cash five spade tricks at will. He can't be missing the ace or queen of spades or he would be playing that suit instead of diamonds.

South therefore has eight ready tricks, counting the clubs, and is leading a diamond because he wants to get a ninth trick. Your only chance to prevent this from happening is to grab the ace of diamonds and play the king and another heart in the hope your partner has four or five hearts headed by the A-Q-10.

The odds are greatly against East's having this ideal holding, but that is the only chance you have to beat the contract.

British naval hero Viscount Horatio Nelson was born at Burnham Thorpe rectory, Norfolk, in 1758. He joined the navy at the age of 12, made a voyage to the West Indies, served in the Arctic expedition of 1773, then in the East Indies, from which he returned to England an invalid in 1776.

When his health was restored, Nelson returned again to duty in the West Indies, but was struck down shortly thereafter by fever. A year later he was again in service in the West Indies, where he married the widow of Dr. Nisbet of Nevis and retired to England for five years.

With the start of the French Revolution, Nelson rejoined the navy, participating in many Mediterranean actions (during one of which he lost the sight of his right eye); fought the French and Spanish fleets off Cape St. Vincent and was made rear admiral; made a vain assault against Santa Cruz de Tenerife in which he lost his right arm; and virtually destroyed the French fleet in the Battle of the Nile.

When war began again in 1803, Nelson, now a viscount, took command in the Mediterranean, blockading the French fleet in Toulon for two years. When it emerged, Nelson chased it to the West Indies and back to Cadiz, before bringing it to battle at Trafalgar, where he destroyed it along with the triumph. Nelson was mortally wounded by a French sharpshooter, dying three hours later.

Police 'Image' To Be Topic

Area Officers To Discuss Common Problems

"The Law Enforcement Image" will be the subject of a special conference sponsored by the Federal Bureau of Investigation next Tuesday at Holiday inn, M-139 at I-94 for all area law men.

Paul H. Stoddard, special agent in charge of the Detroit office of the FBI, said the conference will run from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Stoddard said it is anticipated that many of the serious problems confronting the law enforcement profession at the present time as well as the urgent need for better police-community relations will be among the subjects.

PANELISTS

Panelists include Willard J. Banyon, publisher of the St. Joseph Herald-Press speaking on "News Media as a Means of Improving the Image," Lieut. William Mihalik, chief of detectives, St. Joseph Police Department speaking on "Discipline as a Means of Improving the Image," Capt. Robert Vesey, commander of the Fifth district, Michigan State police at Paw Paw speaking on "Public Relations as a Means of Improving the Image" and Col. E. Wilson Purdy, director of Security, U.S. Industries, Inc., of the Job Corps Training Center at Fort Custer, speaking on "The Value of Public Relations Programs."

Stoddard will serve as moderator of the conference. Special Agents Ross A. Brink, William A. Lamb and Frank J. Knuth will also be panelists.

NEEDS SUPPORT

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said that if law enforcement is to succeed in its war on crime, it must have greater public support. Hoover noted the conference will stress the need for public support as well as the necessity for cooperation between law enforcement agencies on all levels in matters of mutual interest.

The latest technical advances that are available to law enforcement profession will also be studied.

In this regard, Stoddard said, those in attendance will be briefed on the National Crime Information center which the FBI plans to have in operation early next year. The crime laboratory as an increasingly valuable weapon against the criminal will also be discussed as well as the impact of recent U.S. Supreme Court decisions on law enforcement.

Conferences will be held at Kalamazoo, Oct. 5; Grand Rapids, Oct. 6; Lansing, Oct. 7; Detroit, Oct. 11; Flint, Oct. 12 and Bay City, Oct. 13.

'Sure Loser' To Run For S.J. Mayor

Nazi DeFields In Non-Existent Race

By JIM SHANAHAN
BH City Editor

Conceding that "I know I can't win," a man who identified himself as Alexander DeFields informed this newspaper by telephone that he is a candidate for mayor of St. Joseph in 1967.

Nazi DeFields said he has no intention of filing nominating petitions or becoming a St. Joseph resident. He plans to run as a sticker candidate in a protest of what he called open occupancy.

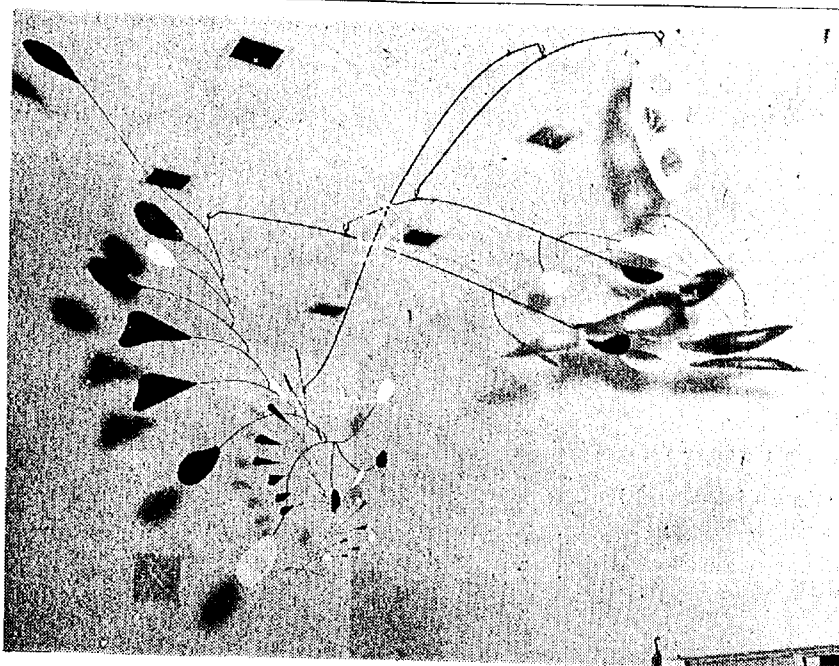

DeFields acknowledged "my record is against me" but feels "I'll get a pretty damn good vote."

The announcement of his candidacy contained a couple of fallacies: Nobody runs overtly for mayor of St. Joseph, an office determined by a vote of the city commission. St. Joseph municipal elections are non-partisan and DeFields indicated he would like "either party" to take up his cause.

NO ORDINANCE

St. Joseph also has no open occupancy ordinance and none is contemplated. A resolution on housing is being drafted for presentation to the city commission based on the State Constitution and existing laws regarding equal protection and non-discrimination.

DeFields' exact residence is not known. He has given various addresses including South Bend, Benton township and a post office box.

MODERN ART AT MERCY HOSPITAL: While Chicago is getting modern art from Picasso in its civic center, abstract examples of sculpture now hang in the lobby of Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor. Called a mobile, it is the work of Harold J. Elias, supervisor of industrial arts for Clark Equipment Co., and Michigan director of American Art Week. Objects at the right represent diseased cells, hanging under a vertical white design that is a symbol of an anti-biotic or man's quest to halt disease. Other shapes in the mobile are in harmonious balance like the human body when it is functioning properly. Living up to its name, the display moves and can become out of balance.

The canteen will be held in the Youth Fellowship hall at the church.

IN PAW PAW

Teachers Hear GOP's Candidate Augenstein

By BILL HAMILTON
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW—Leroy Augenstein, Republican candidate for the state board of education, made a campaign swing into Van Buren county yesterday, speaking to a group of area teachers in Paw Paw during the evening.

Augenstein, who bills himself as "A proud member of the Romney Action Team," discussed several items he feels need attention on the state board of education level.

He proposes that one of the first things that the state board should do is to work with Gov. Romney and the state legislature to revise the tax structure by which schools receive their funds.

He would propose that the state board help local school boards obtain federal funds under the many programs now being made available.

A good look should be taken at the present teacher certification program, he said, to see if possible different levels of certification might be made to help ease the teacher shortage.

IN COMPETITION

One of the major problems, he said, is to raise school revenues enough to keep family men in the teaching profession, instead of losing so many of them to business.

Augenstein also advocates the establishment of vocational technical and community colleges in "depressed" areas. By this means, he feels, the educational standard of young people can be raised to a point which would greatly increase the productivity of the nation.

Finally, he said, Michigan needs administrators who will begin to build a nucleus of planning for future industry to locate in Michigan.

Paw Paw Physician Sentenced

Other Thefts Investigated

PAW PAW—Seven persons were sentenced yesterday in Van Buren county circuit court by Judge David Anderson, Jr. Dr. Timothy M. McManus, 33, who has his medical practice in Paw Paw, was placed on two years probation and ordered to pay $105 fine and costs.

McManus had entered a plea of guilty to a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. A charge of felonious assault was dismissed upon his guilty plea to the second charge.

As a condition of probation, Judge Anderson indicated that Dr. McManus should seek some psychiatric help.

James Thallas, 18, 1050 Phoenix street, South Haven, appeared on a charge of probation violation. He had been placed on probation on a charge of breaking and entering, but has been arrested on disorderly charges since that time.

YOUTH GETS PRISON

Judge Anderson cancelled the probation, and sentenced him to 18 months to 10 years in Southern Michigan prison.

James Bowden, 20, 709 South Haven Place, South Haven, was also brought in on a probation violation charge. Judge Anderson said he was going to give Bowden one last chance and continued the probation, but ordered him to spend 30 days in the county jail.

James Brian Reeves, 23, South Haven, was sentenced to 90 days in the county jail after entering a plea of guilty to a charge of breaking without entering.

Roger Gustum, 29, Kalamazoo, was sentenced to six months in the county jail on a charge of uttering and publishing a fraudulent check.

DRIVER SENTENCED

Carl Lapham, 52, Clarkston, Mich., was placed on two years probation on a charge of negligent homicide. He was ordered to spend the first 60 days of his probation in the county jail.

As a further condition of his probation, Lapham was ordered not to operate any motor vehicle during the two years.

Before pronouncing sentence, Judge Anderson referred to Lapham's driving record, which indicated numerous traffic violations.

William E. Cain, 33, Dowagiac, was placed on two years probation and ordered to pay $157.50 fine and costs on a charge of resisting arrest.

Cain was charged with resisting a Van Buren county sheriff's deputy.

S.J. Firemen Called

Influential Democrat In St. Joe

Puts War Ahead Of Spending On Great Society

Democratic Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee served two notices on the Johnson administration Wednesday: Raise taxes to fight the war in Viet Nam and inflation. Remove inequities in the present tax structure.

Gore spoke last night before the Southwestern Michigan Economic club at the Whitecomb hotel, St. Joseph, and earlier in the day at a meeting of the Michigan Bar Assn. in Lansing.

He termed the Viet Nam war No. 1 on the nation's priority list and repeated oft-voiced pleas for tax reform. Gore said he would oppose the Johnson administration if it seeks an across-the-board increase and stressed that a hike should be borne by high incomes.

Soaking both rich and poor taxpayers for the same percentage increase would "virtually wipe out the meager benefits given to low income persons in 1964, and would leave virtually untouched the considerable benefits given to the high income taxpayer," Gore said.

The present $600 deduction per child was termed "unrealistic" and $1,000 was called more like it, but still short "as any parent with a child to support and educate knows."

To many at the Economic club, Gore's tax hike goal appeared to foretell of things to come, since the veteran Democrat is active on the Senate finance committee, as well as the foreign relations committee and joint committee on atomic energy.

REPEAL

Gore maintained that the basic step should be the repeal of the 1964 tax reduction. He told newsmen that the war in Viet Nam requires from six to eight billion dollars more each year.

He also maintained that American citizens will be willing to sacrifice, even at the expense of the Johnson administration's Great Society programs.

As to the war, itself, Gore emphasized that the nation cannot finance it on higher interest rates, adding that "blood must be injected into the turnip."

And, as to military acceleration through use of atomic weapons, he feared the outcome, liking it to "the rabbit kicking far baby." He said we could obliterate North Viet Nam, but then would have to invade China. The only success, he said, must be either a political settlement or vanquishment of the enemy. His views lead to a political settlement, he said.

SOFTENING UP

Gore indicated that he feels the war in Viet Nam is currently not going too well. He hastened to add that U.S. power is gaining superiority.

The prospect of a tax hike is good, according to the senator, who noted that President Johnson has already decided to bring fiscal policy into play to curb inflation. He noted also that the secretary of the treasury has recently hinted at tax increases and that public opinion now is being conditioned toward this end.

He said the 1964 tax reduction spelled relief for the rich, but not for the average citizen, supporting a wife and family.

Under the 1964 tax cut, Gore said, the "typical" taxpayer with adjusted gross income of one million dollars, pays only about 16 per cent on his realized income to the federal government. Gore maintained that he knows of one person with an income of about $4 million who avoided having to pay any tax, after necessary adjustments and deductions.

He said the average person with a gross income of $30,000 a year, pays about 17 per cent. He then said the average man with $10,000 a year in a family of four pays about 10 per cent of his income.

Gore warned that "unless our tax system can be measured by the yardstick of fairness, the voluntary compliance upon which we so largely depend is endangered."

OTHER TOPICS

After stressing taxation on ability to pay, Gore turned to other topics with newsmen:

A sudden victory in Viet Nam would release a wealth of money to Great Society programs, with enough left to possibly even balance the budget.

Within the next 10 years, the United States will export nuclear fuels to the free world that will exceed the export of cotton or tobacco. He looked for at least $500 million per year in nuclear fuel exports for worthy projects.

Today, within the nation, more than 50 per cent of the generator stations planned call for use of atomic power.

Michigan's Gov. George Romney is not too well known outside this state, at least as far as Gore sees it from Tennessee.

—The Republican party lead.

AFTER SCHOOL

Say B.H. Negro Gang Harasses White Girls

A gang of 15 to 20 Negro youngsters accosted three 13-year-old white girls in Benton Harbor yesterday afternoon and attempted to take money from them, police reported. Patrolman Kenneth Welsher said two of the girls reported being hit in the stomach during efforts to hold onto their purses. He said they did not appear hurt. Welsher said the incident occurred about 3:25 p.m. in the area of Britain avenue and Broadway. The girls reported they were followed by the gang which then formed a ring around them. Efforts to snatch purses failed, police said. No members of the gang were identified, Welsher said. He reported that they are believed to be in the Calvin-Britain school age bracket, for the most part. Some, however, were thought old enough to be in the ninth or tenth grades.

Bands Will Promote UCF Drive

Featured At BH, Lakeshore Games

United Community Fund will be saluted Friday night by the Benton Harbor and Lakeshore high school marching bands at the halftime shows of their home football games.

The 120-piece Tiger marching band, directed by Bernhard Kuschel and with routines planned by assistant director Monte Sheedlo, will build its entire show around the current UCF campaign during the half of the Benton Harbor-Holland game at Filstrup field.

Dressed in their new uniforms, the Tiger bandmen will build all their routines around a United Fund script. They will open with "Old Man River," followed by a Tijuana Brass arrangement of "Mexican Shuffle."

Next, the majorettes will be featured in a Bill Moffit arrangement of "Hawaiian War Chant," with Bonnie Sink, senior head majorette, in a featured role.

To highlight the UCF campaign theme of "Let This Be Your Finest Hour," the Tiger band will close by forming a "finest hour" comes from one's "fair share" pledge to UCF.

At the half of tomorrow night's Lakeshore-Brandywine game on the Lakeshore field, Arnold Lesser's 94-piece marching band will offer a show built around current TV shows. The "commercials" will be United Community Fund announcements.

The 1966 UCF campaign began last Monday, with the conclusion set for Oct. 13. The goal is $455,000 for the 50 local, state and national United Fund agencies.

$4,600 LMC Gets Grant To Equip Lab

Lake Michigan college has been singled out as the only two-year college in Michigan to receive a grant from the National Science Foundation for instructional laboratory equipment.

Receipt of a $4,600 matching grant to buy added equipment for the chemistry department was announced today by Harry Korschuh, dean of arts and sciences.

The money will be used to purchase apparatus for updating and improving laboratory instruction in the chemistry department's newly-revised course offerings, he stated.

Robert Wittenbaugh, project director, and Harry Rodgers, project coordinator at LMC, said among equipment to be purchased will be a gas chromatograph, recorders, ground glassware kits, potentiometers, refractometer, and electro deposition apparatus.

In addition to being the only community college so recognized in Michigan, LMC was among only a few two-year schools in the nation that got these grants from the National Science Foundation, according to Wittenbaugh and Rodgers.

Indecent Exposure Charged

A 22-year-old Berrien county hospital employee has been charged with indecent exposure, stemming from an alleged incident involving an elderly woman hospital patient.

Arraigned on the charge was Kenneth Snow, a white man of Eau Claire. Snow appeared before St. Joseph Municipal Judge Maurice Weber Tuesday and demanded examination on the charge. He was then released on bond.

The alleged incident, which occurred in a hospital washroom, was reported by one of the nurses. Tests indicated the woman patient had not been assaulted, Berrien sheriff's department detectives said.

28 AREA STUDENTS AMONG BEST IN NATION

Semifinals In Merit Testing

Prospects Bright For Scholars Who Need Financial Aid

Twenty-eight high school seniors from throughout southwestern Michigan were announced today as semifinalists in the National Merit Scholarship Corp. competition for 1966-67.

The semifinalists are among the highest scoring students in Michigan on the qualifying tests which were administered last spring in 17,500 schools throughout the nation. More than 14,000 of the nation's ablest seniors were named as semifinalists.

The semifinalists listed by schools are:

BENTON HARBOR—David G. Titman and Lynn M. Wendt.

Marshall Lytle, who took the test while a student at St. Joseph last year, was also named a semi-finalist. He is now a student at Plymouth high school.

ST. JOSEPH CATHOLIC—Michael J. Hill and Earl J. Schulz.

ALLEGAN—Linda L. Wearne.

BERRIEN SPRINGS—Douglas A. Brown.

BUCHANAN—Randy K. Harker, Ruth L. Passig, Jeanette M. Russell, and Robert D. White.

COLOMA—Bryan J. Dunlop.

FENNVILLE—William R. Barron.

HARTFORD—William G. Murphy.

LAWRENCE—Paul E. Mills.

NILES—Nancy Alyanak, Charles W. Goldner, Glenn Ellen Hahn, John M. Hickner, and Susan E. Peace.

SOUTH HAVEN—Elizabeth A. Decker.

These students may advance to finalist status by receiving the endorsement of their schools, substantiating their qualifying test performance on a second examination, and submitting information about their achievement and interests.

All Merit Scholars for 1967 will be selected from the finalist group.

"Semifinalists are representative of the country's most intellectually able young people," according to John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. "From them will come much of our future leadership," he said.

BRING HONOR

These students bring honor not only to themselves, but also to their families, their teachers and their communities, said Stalnaker. "Their success is the result of their own efforts, including well directed energy, usually coupled with the effective direction and encouragement of parents, friends and teachers," he said.

To improve the opportunities of financial assistance for those needing aid, the National Merit Scholarship Corp. sends the names of semifinalists to all regionally accredited colleges and universities and to scholarship-granting agencies and other sources of financial aid. Studies show that about half of the semifinalists in former years have received financial aid from sources other than the merit program.

In past programs at least 97 per cent of semifinalists have become finalists. Names of merit scholars chosen from among the 1966-67 finalists will be announced about May 3. The exact number of awards will depend upon the extent of sponsor support.

Over $48 million in financial aid to merit scholars and their colleges has been expended or committed through the program in the past 11 years. More than 13,000 students have won merit scholarships. The program was founded in 1955 with grants from the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie corporation of New York.

THE POLLS OF ELECTION WILL OPEN AT 7:00 O'CLOCK, A.M., AND CLOSE AT 8:00 O'CLOCK, P.M., EASTERN STANDARD TIME.

The following proposition will be submitted to vote of the electors qualified to vote thereon at said special election:

Shall the limitation on the total amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Lakeshore Public Schools, Berrien County, Michigan, be increased by seven mills on each dollar ($7.00 on each $1,000) of the assessed valuation, as equalized, of all property in said school district for a period of three (3) years, 1967, 1968 and 1969, for the purpose of providing additional funds for operating expenses?

Each person voting on the proposition to increase the total tax rate limitation must be a citizen of the United States, have attained the age of 21 years and have resided in the State of Michigan six months and in the School District 30 days next preceding the election.

Only registered as electors in the township in which they reside are eligible to vote.

I, William H. Bartz, Treasurer of Berrien County, State of Michigan find that as of September 14, 1966 the total of all voted increases over and above the tax rate limitation established by Section 21, Article 9 of the Constitution of Michigan in any local units affecting the taxable property located in Lakeshore School District No. 25, Lincoln Township, Berrien County, Michigan, and the years in which such increases are effective as follows:
